

Medical News

Last Updated Sunday, 09 January 2011

For the most recent medical issues, Google has created a specific search tool which gives access to information published on the internet in recent hours. This search function is available on the basic Google version, using the link News.